

Philip Adam
Production Supervisor
Innovative Produce

Philip Adam is a sixth generation produce farmer in the Santa Maria Valley. As part of the family ownership of Innovative Produce, Inc., Philip has worked in every aspect of the business from moving sprinkler pipe to research and development. His role as Production Manager brings him face to face with the challenges of being a Santa Barbara County farmer.

Prior to joining Innovative Produce Philip worked with an Investment Bank in the Houston area focusing on mergers/acquisitions as well as entrepreneurial capital for the oil and gas industry. Philip holds a BA from Rice University in Houston, TX where he graduated Phi Beta Kappa with majors in Economics and Policy Studies. He is a track and field enthusiast and has earned All American honors. Philip continues his passion for sport as head coach of the St. Joseph High School track team.
